The rapid rise of the new party called know nethings has been a matter of empliee.—
How could such an order multiply so fast: Well

It is but the former morning, by the tunkey, suspended by the neck, better than the old one. It is but the former morning, by the lurukey, suspended by the neck, opposition to the democratic party, composed of from an iron bar attached to the sides of the cell, littless and cold. the same men, holding the same views, the same sympathies and artipathies. In fixing up to start alresh a new element or two is added to the creed, to stimulate the zeal of the faithful, and accommodate a few of the gleanings from other parties. Hostility to foreigners and Catholics is not at all unnatural to the old whig party. Their of proclivity to the former has been uncifested before. It is attentiment the falthful always cherished secret y. To be sure, just previous to an incident of the same views, the same dead to the same of the same views, the same can dead of the implements used in hanging himself were to twell a later a towel, and a large piece of cutton cloth, which he were as a wrapper about his bedy. The two ends of the latter were shoved through a small crevice between the plank libring of the cell and a bar of iron, which is bolted to the masonry near the upper part to the old whig party. To obtain this, Green had broken the number of this Vormitage.

He has preached end withing olsewared which indicated which indicated with a fall of the good of the country; and how has an ungrateful country responded to all list labors? It has condemned and repudiated all his good offics. No wonder if he thinks the world has degenerated, that the pelpe are corrupt, and the old parties unreliable. Something's the matter, and a mental in the program of th and the Catholics, whom they ought not to like Anow Nothing Disclosures.

So a whig might very saturally reason. We don't we doer at it at all. Most men do it reliably the idea of other people's infallibility, butare very partial to their own; that they have been wrong all their lives in the last idea that will be allowed to enter their bloods.

Once more I embrace the opportunity of in-forming you that I shall be in your city to give lectures on Mormonism lext week or the week tollowing. If I have done anything criminal, I will go without resistance. But they do not pretend to say that. All they say is, (ne, Mr. Young) is my lawful husband, but they forget he had twenly-odd wiles when we were married. I was at the time innoceut and shorer. Since I have seen enough, and know the Society to be corrupt, shall till everything just as it is. I shell not stop for the feelings of those who may be present—no, not for Mr. Young himself—but shell led the whole truth, and unfold alt the mysteries connected with the institution.

I am well aware what the consequences would be, providing they had me in their power at Salt Lake. Death would pay for that which I am about to reveal. about to reveal.

There are two very important accrets in Mor-

A part of this information I ob-tained from papers that I found, One morning after Young left my bed, I discovered under the pillow a paper, of which I have a copy. It is a secret plot, contrived to overthrow this Government. In that package, 1 also found a plau of a fort; at the top of the pl
